FEATURED SUCCESS STORY

“PK” PAOLLA JORDAN

LAYING THE FOUNDATION FOR A MEDIATION PRACTICE

Lakewood College graduate, Paolla “PK” Jordan, shares that her goal was to lay the foundation for opening a mediation practice. Graduating in 2010 from the online Mediation and Paralegal programs, she has since gone on to establish her own business, East Valley Mediator.

She certainly brought her own strengths to the table having had experience as a contract negotiator for real estate investments and teaching real estate to investors. Her areas of specialty now include commercial lease mediation, divorce mediation and various family matters to mediate and offer solutions.

When asked about the challenges of going to school, working and raising a family, she confirms that balancing family and coursework obligation can be a “balancing act” at times. Re-inventing one’s self is indeed a challenging process. One of her strategies was to maintain scheduled alone time at a local library for studying.

A champion and spokesperson for mediation as an alternative to more costly legal processes, she hopes to assist others who wish to begin a career in mediation. She has started a divorce care support group with her husband. It is about helping families. Lakewood College is proud to have played a small role in PK’s success story, one that certainly bodes well for her future and for all she will help!

Students are guided through the 5 stages of mediation and are asked how these stages apply to actual case studies of mediation. Students learn core people skills such as active listening, impartiality, neutrality, reframing, effective communication, and the management of conflict. Further, there is no need to take multiple trainings. The Lakewood College Mediation Certificate Program trains its students in business, family, divorce and workplace mediation. Also, all students who complete the Mediation Certificate Program not only receive a diploma and transcripts from Lakewood College, but are eligible to sit for the exam from the National Association of Certified Mediators.

■ PHARMACY TECHNICIAN PROGRAM

Pharmacy technicians and aides help licensed pharmacists prepare prescription medications, provide customer service, and perform administrative duties within a pharmacy setting. Pharmacy technicians also may receive prescriptions sent electronically from doctors' offices, and in some States, they are permitted to process requests by phone. To prepare the prescription, technicians retrieve, count, pour, weigh, measure, and sometimes mix the medication. They prepare the prescription labels, select the type of container, and affix the prescription and auxiliary labels to the container. Once the prescription is filled, technicians price and file the prescription, which must be checked by a pharmacist before it is given to the patient. Technicians may establish and maintain patient profiles, as well as prepare insurance claim forms.
